

Anyone for Pumpkin Pie?

Some time ago Dr. Jim Martindale ordered pumpkins seeds from the Burpee Seed Co. and gave them to Tom Schmitz, Washington R. I with instructions "to grow me a big pumpkin". Well, he did, as evidenced in the picture. The largest tipped the scales at 100 lbs. and the others are just a bit smaller. And this is no Halloween trick.

PARIS (AP) — George Hamilton, in Europe filming a movie, says it's "very unlikely" he'll be back in the United States during the next 3 months.

Hamilton, who has been the No. 1 escort of President Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird, said in Paris, "I am under contract to stay here. They have me insured. And it would be troublesome from the insurance point of view if I got on an airplane."

U. S. Using Crop Killers in Viet Nam

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite recent protests, the United States continues to use defoliants and crop killers in Viet Nam, a war tactic that so far has consumed around $10 million in chemicals.

A Pentagon spokesman acknowledged today that U.S. Air Force C123s still periodically spray heavy jungle and rice-growing areas in an effort to deprive the Viet Cong of ambush cover and food.

The effort, under way the last two years, was deplored last month by 22 scientists, including seven Nobel Prize winners.

The group, in a letter to President Johnson, said employment of even mild chemical agents opens the door for the administration of deadlier types by both the enemy and the United States.

There is no indication the plea was heeded.

In fact, the Pentagon recently extended the spraying operation to include western areas of South Viet Nam's portion of the 6-mile-wide Demilitarized Zone separating the country from North Viet Nam.

Large numbers of North Vietnamese troops have penetrated the Demilitarized Zone in recent weeks in what some military men think may be the prelude to a big offensive push into South Viet Nam's northernmost Quang Tri Province.

To expose the Communist regulars for U.S. air strikes, U.S. planes equipped with 1,000-gallon dispensers swept sections of the DMZ with chemicals which kill concealing foliage.

Overall, more than 640,000 acres of jungle and cropland have been coated with what the Pentagon describes as nontoxic chemicals since January 1965.

The figure does not include the last three months, and a spokesman emphasized the 640,000 is cumulative — not representative of the actual land mass covered by the agents. Some thick jungle regions are sprayed more than once and duplicated in the total.

Defoliating operations require about three gallons per acre at a cost of $5 a gallon.

Funeral for Byrd Set for Sunday

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP) — As a boy, he took over a dying newspaper and made it thrive. A few years later, he planted by hand the first of the apple trees that were to become the vast orchards that made him a millionaire.

Then he turned his thoughts — and actions — to public service. For 40 years, he was the dominant figure of Virginia Democratic politics. For 32 years, in the U.S. Senate, he was the embodiment of conservatism, independence and integrity.

When Harry Flood Byrd died Thursday at the age of 79 of a malignant brain tumor, liberals and conservatives, Democrats and Republicans, joined in paying tribute to the man they had often fought but always admired.

Mike Mansfield of Montana, a Democratic liberal and majority leader of the Senate, summed it up: "He was always most understanding, he was always a gentleman, and he was always consistent."

A funeral service will be held for Byrd at 3 p.m. Sunday at Christ Episcopal Church in Winchester. He will be buried in the family plot in Mt. Hebron Cemetery, where his wife and daughter already lie, just up the street from the newspaper he owned, the Winchester Star.

President Johnson designated Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler, a native of Roanoke, Va., to represent him at the funeral.

The way to Vote AGAINST

"All the way with LBJ" is to

Vote For a NEW CONGRESSMAN —

John Paul Hammerschmidt!

Will the American people vote as they did in 1964 — to go all the way with LBJ?

The answer will be a resounding "No" on November 8.

The American people have come part of the way with LBJ — and they want no part of the rest of the way, because the American people now know what all the way with LBJ really means.

To the country, all the way with LBJ means a five-year war in Asia with American casualties greater than in Korea. That is the prospect to which the Johnson Administration by its policies has committed America.

To the families of America, all the way with LBJ means a spiraling increase in the cost of living, the highest interest rates in 45 years, tight money — and after November the grim prospect of an across-the-board tax hike, wage and price controls and a recession in 1967 that will wipe out all the economic gains of the last decade.

Sitting in the White House today is the most expensive President in American history, and if you check the voting record of the Present Congressman in this district you will see that he has gone all the way with LBJ in spending your money. The simple truth is that the nation can't afford LBJ. He's living beyond our means.

To the people of America, all the way with LBJ means crime growing six times as fast as the population. In the last six years crime has soared 44 per cent in the United States while population is up only eight per cent.

To the voters of America, all the way with LBJ means a President who constantly conceals from them the facts they have a right to know.

It means a shortage of information and truth coming out of the Administration, and thus a shortage of understanding and knowledge of the great issues across America.

Check the voting record of your present

Congressman and you'll find he goes

"all the way with L. B. J."

By MARY CAMPBELL
NEW YORK (AP) — The Brand new Metropolitan Opera had its own Sphinx riddle—how to move its one-ton Sphinx around after the main-stage turntable broke down.

The Met solved its riddle. On opening night in its $45.7-million building, the world premiere of Samuel Barber's "Antony and Cleopatra," the Sphinx moved around on stage, right on the libretto schedule.

The turntable had collapsed during rehearsals and Met executives, on opening night, decided there was no time to repair it. Up stepped a stagehand to announce he could move the 2,000-pound wood and plastic statue. With some modifications, it worked.

In the tradition of the Egyptian Pyramid builders, it was manual labor all the way. There were men inside the king-size model of the monument. They put their shoulders to the Sphinx.

Workers put wheels under it and the strong man climbed inside, put his back and shoulders against a cross piece in the framework, gave a mighty thrust backward, digging in his heels. The Sphinx moved.

But it didn't move majestically. More stagehands were sent inside — four, five, six — until they got up to eight, plus a key man to call signals and push, plus an assistant orchestra conductor to give the key man musical cues and not push.

The 22-foot-long, 18-foot-high Sphinx on wheels sometimes wrinkled the carpet covering the stage. The men found their feet slipping as they pushed, causing the Sphinx to move with fits and shudders.

They threw down rosin, and then somebody thought of sneakers for the men. So the Met management bought nine pairs of sneakers.

Arthur Hennie, key man of the Sphinx Interior department, says the sneakers are "good ones—$11 a pair."

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Confession," the drama on ABC's "Stage 67" Wednesday night was, on the surface, a realistic demonstration of a determined policeman, skilled at extracting confessions, persuading a stunned, sick boy to admit he had murdered his sweetheart.

The hour drama, written by David Karp, opened as the 19-year old boy and his pregnant girl were making a suicide pact, stuffing cracks of windows and doors in a shabby furnished room and turning on the gas.

The girl died but the boy, staggering from the effects of the gas, was taken to a barren back room of a police station for his inquisition by the lieutenant who had announced: "He murdered her — I knew it the moment I saw him."

It was a chilling interrogation, a premeditated series of moods followed by tricky questions designed to entrap and ultimately to destroy.

Arthur Kennedy gave a powerful, volatile performance as the cop with a compulsion to play God and judge. Brandon De Wilde was excellent as the confused boy.

It was, quite obviously, a drama for adults. A number of words and physical references, not often encountered in prime time television, were used freely.

While it was a gripping hour, the boy's torture did seem to be prolonged beyond its effectiveness. And there was a tidy wrap-up at the end, a kind of snapper that cleared the boy. Without it the program would have had a more searing impact.

Bob Hope, who seems to be delivering entertainment in wholesale lots this season, had 16 top comedians as guest stars Wednesday night on NBC. In his first comedy show of the season, he had 15 women stars who had been his leading ladies.

It was a feat just to find space for so many funny men, much less provide them with amusing material. But it was a most amusing 60 minutes, since the show was a long, nutty spoof.

Bob in a blond crew cut wig played a mad chemist with a secret formula to destroy the world. All sorts of agents tried to catch up with him — Dick Shawn as a door-to-door sales-

NORMAL NERVE FUNCTION

By Dr. CHARLES JOHNSON

All parts of the body respond to nerve function and perform normally as long as the supply of nerve current is normal to these parts. Various centers in the nerve system control function such as: Breathing, movement, heart action, digestion, blood circulation and pressure, etc. When disease appears, it is evident that the force causing health has diminished. Diminished nerve function not only impairs normal action of organs, but also lowers tissue resistance. Correct spinal balance and unimpeded nerve function to all tissues is the specialty of the Chiropractic profession.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

ATTENTION: WOMEN DON'T OVERDRESS FOR DOCTORS

Dear Helen: I have wanted to write you for six years and your letter "All God's Chillun Has Troubles" gave me the push I needed. It's true, everyone who deals with the public has problems.

I am a nurse for three busy doctors. People are so impatient when they have to wait on US. Often THEY cause the delay.

Now hear this: We see these same folks on the streets, in stores, etc., with as little on as the law allows. Yet when they come to the doctor for an examination, you'd think they were going to a fashion show. They wear lace-up girdles, long-line snap bra's waist pinchers, hose, jewelry, back zippers they can't manage, hair-do's that get caught in them. I can't see why they dress to impress the doctor when he only sees them undressed.

Then the nurse spends an hour helping them off and on with their clothes while the busy doctors stand outside the door wasting time.

Please, Helen, tell women to wear skirts and blouses and preferably no girdles when they come in for examinations.

Another problem: they call for an appointment and won't tell the nurse exactly what they want, or "Just my blood pressure checked." Then when they get the doctor to himself, they pour on the questions, taking an hour for a 15 minute appointment. Naturally, we can't tell our patients this to their faces — so maybe your column will get it across. Thank you, —BUSY NURSE.

Dear Nurse: Thanks for the pointers.

Ladies: dress down for your doctor — he's not interested in anything but "The Real You," —H.

SEE YOUR BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Dear Helen: I recently saw an advertisement for some jobs that could be done by correspondence with the company that advertised. They were either selling or sewing or typing—something in your own home, which you return to the employer and get paid.

Are these legitimate, and where can I find out more about them?—UNCERTAIN

Dear Un: Be wary of any "job advertisements" which ask prospective employees to send money. You may never earn it back.

If you are in doubt, call or write your Better Business Bureau.—H.

Dear Helen: After reading about how a man writer dislikes women golfers, I had to write and say I feel the same way. I am a 13 year old golfer and I've noticed that when women whiff the ball, make a poor shot, etc., they yell, scream and some even throw their clubs.

I used to do these things too, but, watching them, I have learned how to control my emotions. I can sure see why men want the course to themselves. Please print this so that America's women golfers will try to calm themselves down (for the men's sakes). —LEARNER

Dear Helen: I recently overheard a young woman introduce her friend to a physician whom she had just met. She made a brief apology for not knowing the doctor's first name, and since he did not take the hint by telling her, he introduced him as Dr. Smith.

Am I really that much out of date? Are people calling physicians by their first names? Someone told me they allow their children to do this and "the doctor doesn't seem to mind." —TOO OLD?

Dear T.O.: In my book, you're not out of date. A professional title deserves recognition: to first-name doctor acquaintance would be like calling Man'o War a nag. —H.

This column is dedicated to this column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen Help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star. COPYRIGHT, 1966, KING

Porkers See Romp Over Wichita

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' mid-season mental break from the constant pressure of Southwest Conference warfare has arrived, perhaps just in time.

The Porkers have not, in recent years, faced as capable SWC foes in late October and throughout November as will confront them following Saturday night's clash with winless Wichita.

The break comes on the heels of a bruising struggle with Texas, a rare defeat (Baylor) and a battle in which the opposition (TCU) threatened throughout.

Wichita pressed the 1964 unbeaten Porkers before finally bowing 17-0. This group of Wheatshockers will offer Arkansas' secondary plenty of practice at defending passes, but otherwise they should offer few problems. Arkansas 34-0.

Arkansas State at Abilene Christian — This could be the year for the Indians to sweep to a Southland Conference title, although Lamar Tech appears to be the team to beat. At least the Tribe will open SLC action with a triumph in rambling to their fifth straight victory. Arkansas State 35-13.

Arkansas State Teachers at Southern State — The topsy-turvy AIC race still has no clear cut favorite, but Southern State appears to have as much, if not more, talent than any other team in the league. Not even Bobby Tiner can overcome the Mulderiders. Southern State 27-17.

Arkansas A&M at Henderson — The Weevils continue to ride the big play efforts of freshman Gary Tate. A&M 20-13.

Maryville (Tenn.) at Harding — The Bisons could be in for trouble, but Jimmy Howard should give them the edge. Harding 13-7.

Louisiana College at Ouachita Baptist — Ordinarily the Wildcat band of Baptists would rule as a favorite in this battle, but the Louisiana crew has had little success this year. Ouachita 14-10.

Arkansas Tech at Tarleton (Tex.) State — The Wonder Boys played their game last week in upsetting State Teachers. Tarleton 21-6.

Arkansas AM&N at Prairie View (Tex.) — The Texans are home and that could be the difference in another high-scoring game. Prairie View 33-26.

Last week's .857 performance on a 6-1 effort lifted the season's total to 23-15-1, a .652 percentage.

Captains Named for Sat. Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles Thursday named line-backer Joe Black, defensive halfback Stu Berryhill and Richard Trail as captains for the Razorbacks in Saturday night's football battle with Wichita State at Little Rock.

The Porkers spent 45 minutes polishing up their kicking game Thursday.

Broyles said, "We expect plenty of passing. We've worked hard on our passing game, too."

Wichita, winless in four games, threw 60 passes last week against New Mexico State.

Win Streak of Bulls Is Snapped at 3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The three-game winning streak of the new Chicago Bulls in the National Basketball Association was snapped by San Francisco Thursday night.

The Bulls went down fighting, 121-111, with Guy Rodgers of Chicago, formerly with San Francisco, coming to blows with Paul Neumann and Rick Barry of the Warriors. John Kerr, the Chicago coach, also was ejected from the bench for disputing the calls of the officials.

St. Louis whipped Detroit in the only other NBA game scheduled.

Barry threw in 43 points to lead the Warriors to their victory over the Bulls at San Jose, Calif. Nate Thurmond was second high with 19 points and 18 rebounds. Rodgers led the Bulls with 26 points.

Lou Hudson, the rookie from Minnesota, teamed with veteran Zelmo Beaty and Len Wilkens to lead St. Louis over Detroit on the Pistons' home court.

Beaty got 31 points and 20 rebounds. Hudson and Wilkens each scored 24 points. Dave Debussche topped the Pistons with 32 points and 19 rebounds.

Pro Leagues Get Go-Ahead on Merger

By DICK BARNES
WASHINGTON (AP) — The National and American Football Leagues have the legislative equivalent of a first down on the one-yard line today after a successful end run around House objections to an antitrust exemption for the leagues' merger.

The Senate still must give final approval before the exemption provisions go to President Johnson — but the Senate has voted for them several times earlier during pro football's long drive toward the goal of Congressional endorsement.

Presidential approval is another virtual certainty because the provisions are tied to an anti-inflation tax bill which Johnson wants badly.

The big play was Thursday's House approval of the bill over objections of Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who had held up other versions of the plan in his House Judiciary Committee.

Tacking the provisions onto the tax bill enabled pro football to finally skirt Celler's committee.

"The end run was made not around me," insisted Celler during debate, "but around the public, who now have no way of knowing the whys and the wherefores and the results that may flow from this football merger."

The provisions would allow the leagues to follow through on their announced plans to combine into one 24-team operation, expand to a 26-team league by 1968 and possibly add two more franchises by 1970.

Perhaps the key merger provision is elimination of competitive drafts of college players.

The interleague bonus and salary war had brought on such reported payments as $400,000 to New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath from Alabama and $900,000 to San Francisco 49ers' quarterback John Brodie, who was negotiating to switch leagues after nine seasons in the NFL.

Now a drafted player will have no choice of clubs if he wants to play in a major U.S. league. Some competition with the Canadian Football League and with other pro sports in the case of two-sport athletes will probably keep bonuses from hitting rock-bottom, however.

The provisions grant antitrust immunity only to the fact of the merger.

Oklahoma Takes on Notre Dame

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Deanna Dooley doesn't like her daddy's culinary creations but Georgia hopes he can cook up something special for Kentucky Saturday.

Deanna is five years old and her daddy is Vince Dooley, coach of the Bulldogs. Georgia, sharing first place in the Southeastern Conference with Florida and Alabama at 2-0, takes on upset-minded Kentucky in an SEC clash Saturday.

Dooley always cooks breakfast for Deanna and it must be said that his daughter isn't too enthusiastic about that.

"I get up with my daddy, so he can cook me some cereal," she says, "That is all he ever cooks. Just old cereal. I wish he could learn to cook something else. I'm tired of cereal."

Against Kentucky, Dooley hopes to have Georgia cooking with steam as the Bulldogs attempt to bounce back from last week's 7-6 nonconference loss to Miami.

The college weekend gets started tonight with Miami facing Indiana at Bloomington.

Georgia is the only one of the SEC's three leaders not listed in The Associated Press's Top Ten. Alabama, the defending national champion and ranked fourth in the poll, plays Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Florida, No. 8, plays at Louisiana State.

Notre Dame defends its No. 1 ranking against 10th-rated Oklahoma at Norman and Michigan State, seeking to regain the top spot after slipping to No. 2 this week, hosts ninth-ranked Purdue in games matching Top Ten opponents.

Terry Hanratty, Notre Dame's sophomore quarterback, apparently has recovered from a sore arm and is expected to return to an air attack with Jim Seymour his No. 1 target. The Irish wore down North Carolina along the ground with Larry Conjar doing the bulk of the work last week.

Oklahoma, hoping its speed can overcome Notre Dame's size, is a two-touchdown underdog.

Michigan State, which squeezed past Ohio State 11-8 last week, will depend on the running of Bob Apisa and Clint Jones to overcome the passing of Purdue's Bob Griese. The Spartans are favored by eight points.

UCLA, ranked third, plays at California. Southern California, No. 5, takes on Clemson, sixth-ranked Georgia Tech meets Tulane and Nebraska, No. 7, faces Colorado in other games involving Top Ten teams Saturday.

In other major games around the country, Arizona plays Utah, Army hosts Pittsburgh, Arkansas faces Wichita State, Baylor meets Texas A&M and William and Mary.

Golf Trail Leads to Hawaii Open

HONOLULU (AP) — The pro golf trail leads to Aloha Land for the second straight year next week for the $60,000 Hawaiian Open, with the full cast of tourists on hand.

Play runs Thursday through Sunday on the Honolulu course which looks over the Pacific from the slopes of familiar Diamond Head.

Leading catch for the promoters of the tournament is Billy Casper, the National Open champion and leading money winner, who will play the tournament for the second straight year.

Professional Golfers Association champ Al Geiberger also is returning, and Gene Littler, winner of the television world series of golf, will make his first appearance.

Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer are passing up the tournament.

Ortiz Working for Fight Sat.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York and the Cuban-born challenger Sugar Ramos worked out only lightly today for their 15-round title fight in El Toreo bull ring Saturday night.

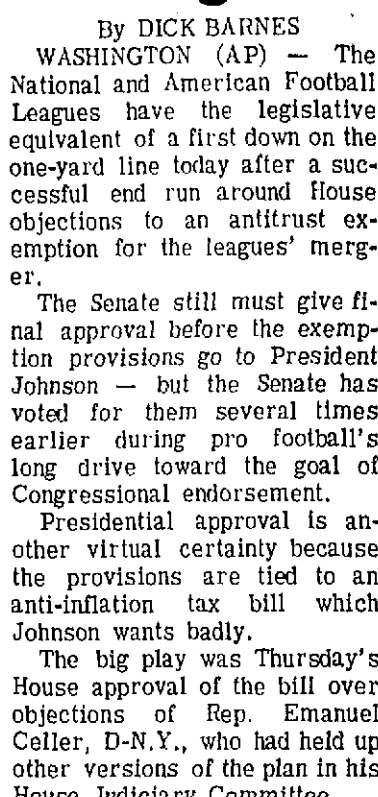

Michigan plays Minnesota. Texas plays at Rice in a Southwest Conference game, Harvard and Dartmouth battle for the Ivy League lead, Duke clashes with North Carolina State, Texas Tech meets Southern Methodist and Washington plays Oregon.

Also, Syracuse is at Holy Cross, North Carolina hosts Wake Forest, Ohio State meets Wisconsin, West Virginia takes on Penn State and Navy faces William and Mary.

Baylor and A&M Top SWC Game Sat.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
Football will fly and more than 40,000 fans will roar in the Valley of the Brazos Saturday when Texas A&M, riding the crest of two Southwest Conference victories, tries to stay on top of the race in a battle with Baylor's driving Bears.

It is the big game of the conference race thus far and with those two mighty passers — Edd Hargett of the Aggies and Terry Southall of Baylor — as ringmasters it could turn into the wildest melee of the season.

Baylor, which established itself as the favorite when it stopped the long winning streak of Arkansas two weeks ago, will be a touchdown choice. But there are plenty who think the prediction should be the other way, what with the Aggies' 35-point average per game in winning its two conference tests.

Two more conference games also have deep significance with the other unbeaten team in championship play — Southern Methodist — tackling the high-scoring Red Raiders at Lubbock and Texas meeting Rice in their survival of the fittest affair at Houston.

The Aggies will be the conference leaders if they win over Baylor since they would be 3-0. Southern Methodist will be 2-0 if it wins. Should Baylor take the Aggies' toll, however, the Bears could be either undefeated leaders or tied with SMU.

But Texas and Rice face elimination since each has lost a game and two defeats mean the end of the road in the always tight conference campaign.

Southern Methodist, which hasn't won over the Red Raiders in three years, is an 8-point favorite to turn the tables. Texas, still fighting an unprecedented injury jinx, is a choice by less than a touchdown over Rice, a team that can beat anybody for three quarters.

While crucial conference games are going on, the other two members of the league will be trying to better the inter-sectional record, which right now is sagging behind by a few games.

Arkansas hosts Wichita State in one of two night games on the schedule — Texas and Rice play the other one. Arkansas is such a big favorite no odds were posted.

Texas Christian meets Auburn at Auburn, Ala., in the second intersectional clash on the card and the Frogs, who have won only one game out of five and along with Texas Tech have been eliminated from the conference race, are underdogs. Auburn is a three-point favorite.

Two out of four last week; can't do that this week since there are five games. Here's how they look Saturday:

Baylor-Texas &M — A weak vote for Baylor.

Southern Methodist — Texas Tech — Southern Methodist will win a scoring duel.

Texas-Rice — A tossup with Texas winning the toss.

Texas Christian-Auburn — Texas Christian is better than its record indicates and will come through.

Arkansas-Wichita — Arkansas by three touchdowns.

Now Browns Have to Halt Dallas' Hays

Members of Yerger Football Squad Celebrates Homecoming here tonight

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
If the St. Louis Cardinals worked the new-to-impossible on Bob Hayes last Sunday, the Cleveland Browns may have to make it the impossible this Sunday if they hope to remain in contention in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

The Cardinals had to do more than just stop the speedy Hayes in gaining a 10-10 tie with Dallas in the battle of Eastern unbeaten, but they did stop him. Hayes gained just 24 yards on three pass receptions and didn't score a touchdown for the first time in eight games, counting exhibitions.

"He's next to impossible to cover," said Cardinal defensive back Abe Woodson. "All I tried to do was destroy his patterns. Only the fact that our pass rush hurried the quarterback saved me a couple of times."

Now it's the Browns' turn to try and stop Hayes, who leads the NFL with seven touchdown passes caught.

The Browns already have lost two of their five games while Dallas is 4-0-1 and St. Louis, which plays Washington is 5-0-1. Another loss could be damaging to the Browns, who are trying to win the title this year without Jimmy Brown.

This is the first meeting between the teams, but Cleveland played St. Louis last month and lost 34-28.

The Cowboys sport a couple of awesome statistics going into Sunday's game. They lead the league in total offense, averaging 434.6 yards a game, and in pass offense with a 278.2 average.

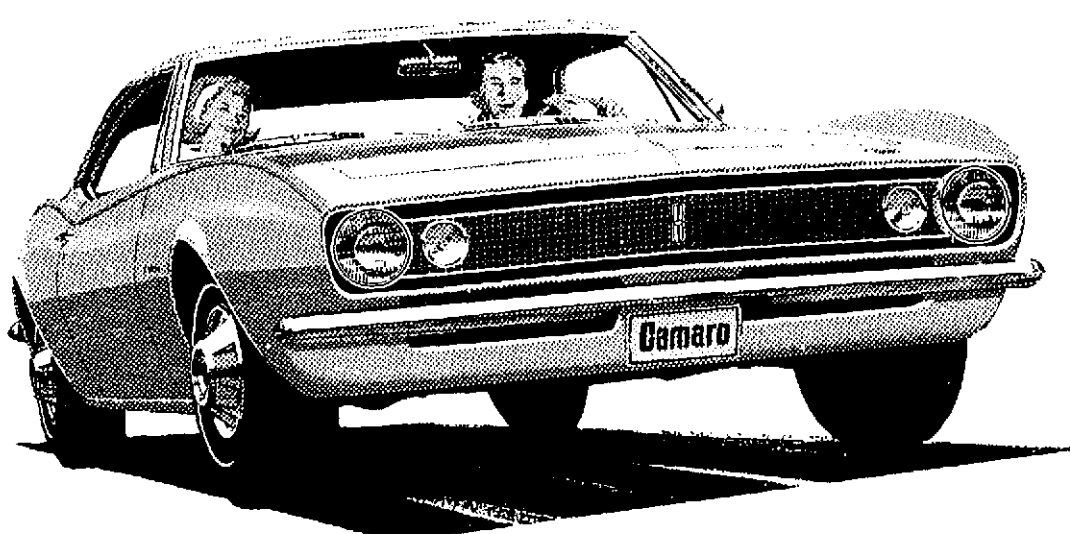

The Browns, meanwhile, have allowed 212.4 yards a game through the air, and only Atlanta has given up more yardage.

Atlanta, incidentally, has more than a rough task Sunday in trying for its first league victory. The Falcons play Green Bay, the Western leader with a 5-1 mark.

What GIs Like for Christmas
By PEGGY SIMPSON
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ketchup, a money clip, bubble gum, James Bond, peanut brittle — and a poem.

To a GI fighting in Viet Nam who finds them in a Christmas package, each is an appreciated rarity.
A Dallas organization, Support, formed last March as a home-front cheering squad for the boys at war, is recruiting donors for overseas Christmas goodie bundles.
"We're working with anybody whose integrity we feel we can respect," said Mrs. Paul Burns Jr., unofficial spearheader of Support. "We just want to be sure they're reliable. There have been instances of the boys getting dog food and Communist literature in the mail."
Support promises to match up a company of about 200 soldiers in Viet Nam with any interested group, such as a sorority, Parent-Teacher Association, or civil club. Each group agrees to air-mail goodies in five-pound packages by Dec. 1.
To help the club members decide what to choose, Support talked to a former supply sergeant returned from Viet Nam and compiled a list of what every soldier wants for Christmas. These include:
A money clip— Vietnamese paper money comes in bundles. Packaged sauces such as ketchup or tabasco to spice up the C-rations.
A ball point pen with a battery-operated light in the tip, so the GI can write home at night.
Writing paper and self-seal envelopes—regular envelopes stick shut from the humidity.
Nuts, canned shoestring potatoes, flavored candy drops, fruit cake or peanut brittle; all must be in vacuum cans to keep out the ants.
Paper back books—even fighting men crave adventure stories.

Presweetened powdered drinks; a comb; good pair of sunglasses; magnetic chess or checkers sets or Chinese puzzles for compact entertainment; bubble gum for the GIs to give Vietnamese children.
And a poem or prayer to convey the sender's special thoughts about Christmas.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
The Safeguards to Take In Tuberculosis Cases
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q—I was found to have a very small healed spot or scar on my lungs, even though I have never been sick with tuberculosis. What could have caused this? What is the medical term for it?
A—You are one of the lucky ones. Many persons have a mild brush with tuberculosis in childhood, build up a resistance and, like you, have nothing to show that they have had the disease but an old healed tubercle visible only on X ray. This is called a primary focus.
The fact that you have successfully thrown off this first tuberculous infection does not make you immune for life. You should, therefore, observe all the rules of healthy living so that you can resist any further contact with this disease.
Q—What is the effect of streptomycin shots given for long periods in the treatment of tuberculosis? What is the difference between bronchiectasis and tuberculosis?
A—Streptomycin, used in conjunction with other anti-tuberculosis drugs, is an effective cure. The dosage must be carefully adjusted to prevent dizziness and deafness. Bronchiectasis is a disease in which the smaller branches of the bronchial tree become dilated. It is usually caused by measles or whooping cough in children or pneumonia in adults. Following the acute disease, the dilated bronchi become chronically infected. This disease is in no way related to tuberculosis, in which small areas of consolidation (tubercles) occur in the lung tissue.
Q—Recently my daughter had a tuberculin skin test which was positive. Is there any chance that she could some day be free of the germs?
A—She may be free of them now. A positive tuberculin test indicates previous contact with the tubercle bacillus. The infection in a positive reactor may be active or

What heart would you play from dummy at trick one? This is somewhat of a trick question because most people will go into a long study about the relative merits of the deuce and the eight. Your plan will be to get East to play the king so that your queen will become a trick but if East is silly enough to rise with the king instead of some intermediate card your choice of eight or deuce will be meaningless.

When Don Krauss of Los Angeles played this hand in a California tournament he called for the queen from dummy. East covered with the king and Don won with his singleton ace. Then he played ace and five of trumps.

East was in with the queen and had no problem with his play. He led the ten of hearts. Don ruffed and played a third round of trumps. East was in with the king and led another heart. Don ruffed and claimed his contract. He explained that he would be able to get rid of one of his losing diamonds on dummy's fourth club and that East or West would get one diamond trick at the finish.

Do you see why Don's play of the queen of hearts was correct? East was a good player and would surely have played the nine on either the eight or deuce. Then, when East got in with the queen of trumps he could not afford a heart lead.

A club lead would be most unattractive also and eventually East would get around to playing the deuce of diamonds as the only lead at his disposal that offered any prospect of defeating the contract.

Church Visitation Day

The earlier-than-usual hiring fits in with the department's campaign for Americans to
"shop early, mail early and use
Zip codes" on their Christmas cards and packages.
O'Brien's announcement
Wednesday came one day after the department finished sorting out a massive mail pileup that engulfed the Chicago post office, causing delays of up to 10 days
in some deliveries.
"I want to make absolutely certain that we do not incur a backlog of mail in any post office in the nation such as the one we just dug out of in Chicago," O'Brien said.

Postal officials blame recent mail delays on personnel problems — mainly the inability to hire enough employees. They say absenteeism played a role in the Chicago pileup.
O'Brien said that in cases where delays could become serious, he is authorizing what ever overtime pay is necessary to clear up the jam. He also disclosed the department is creating 10,000 new regular jobs by converting temporary substitute positions to regular status.
Meanwhile, a Postal Employes Union official predicted an embargo will be placed on all third class mail — such as advertising circulars— to permit
Christmas mail to be delivered on time.
James H. Rademacher, vice-president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, also said in an interview that there were "instances where parcel post is being delayed as much as a week, circular mail was being delayed long after sales were over, and in some areas, because of a shortage of manpower, entire routes were not even being delivered."

O'Brien said he would look into all complaints, but characterized those of Rademacher as neither significant nor accurate.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON will return to the scene of some of his World War II adventures during his 17-day, 25,000-mile journey to the Far East. Top photo shows the then Lt. Cmdr. Johnson in Gen. MacArthur's headquarters near Melbourne, Australia, as he points to New Guinea, where he had been on a bombing mission. Mr. Johnson will
boarding Air Force One at Dulles Airport as they started their journey.

Christmas Mail Workers Recruited

By GAYLORD SHAW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department is recruiting an army of 150,000 temporary employees for its battle against the annual avalanche of Christmas mail.
The objective, in the words of
Postmaster General Lawrence
F. O'Brien, is to try to insure "that our fighting men in Viet Nam and all of our people at home will receive all of their Christmas mail on time."
Recruiting of the temporary employees will begin immediatly, he said, in hopes that many of them can join the department's regular 700,000-man work force by Nov. 1. Last year, the hiring of 147,000 temporary workers did not begin until Dec.
4.
The earlier-than-usual hiring
fits in with the department's campaign for Americans to
"shop early, mail early and use

Williams Plans to Lay Clay Away

HOUSTON (AP)—Cleveland Williams went on the record Thursday with a pledge to knock out Cassius Clay when they box in Houston Nov. 14 for the world heavyweight title. "I honestly believe I'll knock out Clay," Williams said after a seven-round workout at his ranch training camp. Williams' statement came after his second viewing of films of Clay's 15-round decision over Canadian George Chuvalo. Talking about Clay, Williams said, "If he could punch, he'd have taken Chuvalo out of there." Williams looked sluggish in the rounds with his sparring partners Ben Black, Jeff Davis and Chuck Leslie, admitting later, "I just couldn't get started."

U. S. Edges Russia in Mexico Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's Little Olympics have come to a close with the United States edging Russia in the unofficial standings of gold medals. The American athletes wound up with 22 first places while the Soviet Union compiled 21 gold awards. The Americans equaled a pair of Olympic track and field records Thursday in the windup of the nine-day competition in such diversified sports as bicycle racing and canoeing. Bob Seagren of Los Angeles won the pole vault in 16-8 1/4 to tie the Olympic record held by fellow American Fred Hansen. Seagren, however, has vaulted as high as 17-5 1/2 before. Tommie Smith, of San Jose, Calif., the world record holder in the 200-meter dash, matched the Olympic mark of 20.3, just one-tenth of a second slower than his world standard. Jim Grelle of Portland, Ore., the U.S. indoor one-mile record holder, failed to finish the 1,500-meter event, won by Bodo Tummier of West Germany. Grelle, apparently exhausted, would not comment as to his dropping out. West Germany ended up with two gold medals in the last round of track and field. Russia, Hungary, Poland, Cuba, Colombia and Spain won one medal each in track and field Thursday. An athlete from France captured the modern pentathlon and Denmark and Czechoslovakia won cycling gold medals on the final day. In boxing, Mexico accounted for 3 1/2 golds, Cuba and Russia won two each and Poland captured 1 1/2 on the last day of competition. The Russians dominated the wrestling finals with three gold medals. Hungary, West Germany and Romania took one apiece. Some 788 athletes representing 25 countries were entered in the games. The competition was held mainly to see how the athletes would react to the oxygen-thin air at Mexico City's altitude of 7,349 feet. The results of the games now will enable the athletes and doctors to assemble medical information that will help them plan training programs for the 1968 high altitude Olympics at Mexico City.

Housewife First and Golfer Next

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mrs. David Welts of Mount Vernon, Wash., is first a housewife and mother, second a golfer. Today she is a golfer — No. 1 in the women's world team championship and America's hope of winning the title trophy from France, thanks to a borrowed driver and a brass-headed putter resurrected from the U.S. Golf Museum. "I try to play only two tournaments a year — the National Amateur and the National Open," the former Anne Quast explained. "I felt dreadful coming down here, leaving David and my 3-year-old son at home. But David, who is busy with his law practice, insisted I play, and he is coming down this weekend." When Mrs. Welts got here, she found that her 8-year-old driver, the one with which she had won three United States amateur championships, was dead in the head. So she borrowed one from her teammate, Mrs. Theodore Bodie, and put it in the bag with a putter she had given to the U.S. Golf Association Museum. "I asked Joe Dey (executive director of the U.S. Golf Association) to let me have my putter back for just a week," Anne said. With the driver and putter, Mrs. Welts fired a one-under-par 71 over the rain-dampened Mexico City Country Club course Thursday to give the United States a one stroke lead over Italy after the first round in the team competition. Mrs. Welts' 71 and Mrs. Bodie's 74 gave the Americans a 145 compared with 146 for Italy, 147 for the defending champion French team and 150 for Canada and Belgium, tied for fourth. Fourteen other teams were stretched out behind, down to Chile's last place 178. Three players are on each team but only the two longest scores count. The third member of the U.S. team, 17-year-old Shelley Hamlin of Fresno, Calif., shot an 80. Mrs. Welts putted spectacularly in posting the best round of the day. She had only 26 putts, chipped in from off the green at the ninth, sank from 30 feet at the 10th and ran in a 10-footer at the 11th for consecutive birdies. Isa Goldschmid, the Italian captain, shot a par 72, as did Corinne Raybroeck of Belgium and Florencia Hernandez of Mexico. Miss Goldschmid's 72, plus a 74 by Marina Rangher made up Italy's surprising 146. Brigitte Varangot, twice winner of the British women's crown, led the French team with a 73 with 21-year-old Christine Lacote contributing a 74. A 74 by Mrs. Marlene Streit and a 76 by Gayle Hitchens, a Vancouver school teacher, composed Canada's 150 score. A round will be played each day through Sunday.

Other participating contestants were: 9A class, Miss Harriett Hickles, sponsor, Coach Joe Ware; 9B Miss Linda Gray, sponsor, Miss Minnie McKillion; 9C class, Miss Mary Brown, sponsor, Mrs. Bertha Cole; 10A class, Miss Josephine Dudley, sponsor, Mrs. Ruth Love; 10B class, Miss Barbara Chambers, sponsor, K. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—The Rev. Ian Paisley, leader of Northern Ireland's Protestant extremists, was released from Belfast jail today after serving a three-month term for refusing to keep the peace. He told a crowd of about 100 outside the jail to come back Thursday morning at 9 o'clock "for a real good Protestant rally on the steps of the prison."

Paisley's breakaway church has only about 3,000 members but he has much wider support among other Ulstermen who fear the increasing influence of Roman Catholicism. After a riot when his Protestant supporters marched through a Catholic section of the city and staged demonstrations outside the annual assembly of the Irish Presbyterian Church, Paisley was fined and ordered to put up a two-year peace bond. He refused to put up the bond and was jailed. His supporters paid the $84 fine.

London Tower Robbed of Jewels

LONDON (AP)—The Tower of London, the ancient depository of Britain's crown jewels, was robbed Tuesday night of $7,000. Charles Mahadeo, 31, a government clerk, told police the thief walked into a fourth-floor office in the Lanthorn Tower, knocked him semiconscious and made off with the day's take from tourists.

The priceless crown jewels are kept in a supposedly thief-proof vault in the Wakefield Tower.

Mao Reviews the Red Guards

TOKYO (AP)—Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung reviewed 1.5 million youthful Red Guards — the muscles behind China's "cultural revolution" — in a pointed rebuff Tuesday to Soviet bloc criticism of the movement.

The cheering youths lined a 17-mile route to Peking's Gate of Heavenly Peace Square to salute the 72-year-old Mao and his No. 2 man, Defense Minister Lin Biao, the New China News Agency reported.

The report made no mention of any speeches. Mao, hatless and in military uniform, was described as looking "very fit."

Rockefeller Chides Faubus' New Home

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
Republican Winthrop Rockefeller, campaigning in northeast Arkansas, crossed paths with Gov. Orval Faubus at Huntsville Thursday and later, in humor, the governor's new home into a speech at Springdale.

He told more than 500 persons at a GOP rally that he had seen the governor, but that he was disappointed when Faubus didn't invite him to see his new house.

The GOP charged earlier this year that Faubus' home at Huntsville would cost $300,000. Faubus has said it would not cost $100,000.

The political wars then open, though Faubus for the first time in 12 years, and the matter was pushed into the background.

He told the rally that during a campaign he had not heard Democrat Jim Johnson say one thing that he was for, only things he was against.

He also said Arkansas had many problems, but none that could not be worked out with good government and with the help of the people.

Rockefeller addressed a joint meeting of civic clubs at Springdale earlier in the day and renewed his attack on the late Highway Department.

"I have been critical of the Highway Department," he said, "and got jumped on because I said I'd fire the whole skaboodle. The answer is very simple—they are not doing the job that they should be doing."

Rockefeller told students at the University of Arkansas that his comment about firing Highway Commission members was "the first time I've got myself in a position where in my enthusiasm I overextended myself."

He issued a statement in which he said Johnson had "begged and coaxed" the machine politicians into his campaign and had suddenly become silent about "the scandalous highway situation."

Johnson spoke before the Rotary Club at Little Rock, promising to "lop off a number of jobs" even if it might not be smart politics.

"When someone hands you a bouquet you can bet it was picked in your own garden," Johnson said. "You voted for a change in Arkansas and I am going to give you that change."

He also renewed his attack against the federal government and the Arkansas Gazette, repeating a previous campaign statement that his horns were not nearly as long as the Gazette would have you believe.

Johnson said his nomination had reverberated across the nation and had started a national movement "in the direction of sanity in government."

"Even Lyndon Johnson is changing his tune," he said. "Even Hubert Humphrey is sitting up and taking notice."

Johnson spoke to some 3,000 persons at a rally at Hope Thursday night where he said Rockefeller did not know enough about the operations of state government to be quali-

Adjournment Fever Hits Capitol Hill

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 200 trial judges in 20 cities were questioned by the Reardon committee in the course of its study of free press and fair trial.

The views expressed offer some interesting insights into current courtroom practices. And, taken together, they appear to support the idea that the courts themselves have plenty of elbow room to shield trials from prejudicial publicity.

Virtually all the judges polled by the American Bar Association panel, headed by Justice Paul O. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, preside over trials involving serious crimes. Sixty-eight responded.

More than half — 39 — said they never reprimanded the news media or requested they withhold their reports before or during trial. Two said they occasionally reprimanded the media and 27 said they occasionally requested that the reporting be withheld.

What was the response when the news media were asked "not to report certain information"? Twenty-two said they generally or always received compliance, three said they sometimes received compliance and one said the requests were refused. One judge did not reply.

Among the procedures open to defense attorneys to guard against a prejudiced jury are to ask that the case be put off for a while or that it be heard somewhere else.

Thirty-four judges said they had never been asked to delay a case on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and 41 said they had never been asked for a change of locale on those grounds.

And yet 32 judges said there are occasions when a continuance is an effective remedy and 40 said the same thing about a change of venue.

The judges also were asked how often the defense sought a mistrial or new trial on grounds of prejudicial news coverage. Thirty-seven said never, 19 said seldom, eight said occasionally, one said often and three did not answer.

Perhaps most significant were the replies to the question: "What benefits do you believe are derived from news reporting of criminal matters?"

Thirty-six said it increases public awareness, 18 said scrutiny of public officials, nine said deterrence of crime and two said it aids administration of justice. Fourteen said there were no benefits.

Nine judges did not answer. Of those that responded some listed more than one benefit.

Could the same benefits be obtained if attorneys and law enforcement officers were prohibited from making certain "extrajudicial public statements?" — a major recommendation of the committee.

Seven judges said benefits would be impaired, 40 said they would still be obtained, 14 said there would be no benefits and seven did not answer.

Planes Used in Apparent Laos Feud

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian air force planes bombed military installations around Vientiane for 30 minutes today in what appeared to be the culmination of a feud between the air force commander, Brig. Gen. Thao Ma, and the army high command in the capital.

At least 11 persons were reported killed and three injured. Well informed sources said Gen. Thao sent his planes against his rivals in the capital after arresting Gen. Ouane Rattikoum, the royal army's commander in chief; Gen. Boun Oum, the inspector general of the army, and the king's brother, Gen. Sayavong, at air force headquarters in Savannakhet, in southern Laos.

The sources reported later, however, that Gen. Ouane, Prince Boun Oum, and Prince Sayavong, who commands the armored divisions, had escaped and were heading south for Pakse in a jeep.

LBJ Demands Study of Food Costs

By GORDON G. GAUSS
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A high-priority study of the costs of food sales promotion, including games of chance as well as trading stamps, is being demanded by President Johnson's special assistant for consumer affairs, Esther Peterson.

She disclosed her call for an investigation Thursday in Denver, where she came to look at a week-long boycott of some chain supermarkets by housewives demanding lower prices.

The request was made in a letter to Paul Rand Dixon, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. It included excerpts from letters received by Mrs. Peterson referring to games as "gambling with our food dollars."

Two of five chains originally placed on the boycott list Monday by Denver's "Housewives for Lower Food Prices" organization were removed, said Mrs. Paul West, spokesman for the organization. They were the Miller chain of markets and Furr's Stores.

Left on the list were Safeway Stores, Red Owl Stores and King Soopers.

Some women who claim membership in the organization declared, however, they are continuing to boycott all the stores until there is evidence that prices will stay at lower levels set this week.

Safeway announced price cuts and King Soopers' vice president, Lloyd King, said his stores will meet any regular prices posted by other firms.

He expressed fear that a price war would break out which could damage retailers. King said every firm intends to retain its share of the Denver market.

Mrs. West said the Miller and Furr chains were removed from the boycott because they had shown substantial price cuts and because they had signed petitions calling for a federal investigation of food costs.

"We are not against profit," Mrs. West told newsmen. Mrs. Peterson met with Mrs. West at the airport, and also held a news conference.

Mrs. Peterson said she is "on the side of the consumers — the housewives" and declared that prices of some food products are too high. She did not specify items she had in mind.

She also avoided any flat endorsement of the Denver housewives' boycott, explaining that she was not familiar with details of the Denver situation.

Mrs. Peterson warned against price wars, which she said usually lead to higher prices later.

Hubert Has Developed Thick Skin

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — As a political pro, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has developed a thick skin. But he acknowledges some of his critics' barbs and jeers still hurt.

Yet he asks with some scorn, "What do they say poor Hubert for? I'm happy."

There are many who think he has reason not to be — that his own political future and ambitions are being crushed under the shadows of President Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Humphrey obviously listens for challengers' footsteps, watches for political portents and candidly admits "some times I'm heartbroken" by criticism he regards as unfair or wrong.

But as for a future strategy, defensive or offensive, Humphrey insisted in an interview, "I have not really thought very much about this."

And further, he said, "The best things my friends can do is ease up."

Humphrey even seems to find a measure of security in what others would view as something less than long term insurance, saying: "I'm going to be vice president, God willing, until January 1969."

"By the time I leave this office," he added, "it's going to be more important than when I came in. That's my goal."

With the President in the Far East, Humphrey is "telescoping" his campaign schedule for fellow Democrats into long weekends while he spends the rest of the time around Washington minding the store.

Today he jets off for one of the long weekends that will take him to Democratic rallies, dinners and news conferences in Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois. He returns to Washington Monday evening.

While minding the administration store in the boss's absence, Humphrey is not trying to run it.

"I'm not president, I'm not acting president, I'm the vice president," said Humphrey.

What he is doing, said the vice president, "is just being around if I'm needed — not sticking my nose in."

VANDALS

Dist. Atty. Frank Coakley of Alameda County declared Thursday, "There will be no wholesale amnesty for criminal violators as there was in San Francisco." After a Negro riot in San Francisco last month, there was a general amnesty for lesser offenses.

Coakley charged that "professional agitators" had promoted a school boycott which, he said, caused the trouble.

The statement immediately sparked disagreement among city officials.

Dr. Stuart S. Phillips, Oakland superintendent of schools, agreed with Coakley that the boycott backed by the Ad Hoc Committee for Quality Education was responsible for the trouble.

But City Manager Jerome Keittley and Police Chief Robert Preston both said they saw no connection between the two. Negro attorney John George, who leads the committee, called Coakley's charge "blatant intimidation" of Negroes legitimately seeking equal opportunity in education.

The boycott, aimed at 20,000 students in Oakland's junior and senior high schools, has caused absenteeism 5,000 above usual. Some of the most violent incidents have focused on the city's schools.

A fire-bombing of Fremont High School Wednesday night caused damage estimated at more than $30,000.

Predominantly Negro Castlemont High School was shut down Wednesday after 250 Negro truants and nonstudents beat five white teachers and three white students and littered classrooms.

Monday evening. While minding the administration store in the boss's absence, Humphrey is not trying to run it.

"I'm not president, I'm not acting president, I'm the vice president," said Humphrey.

Forest Products Week

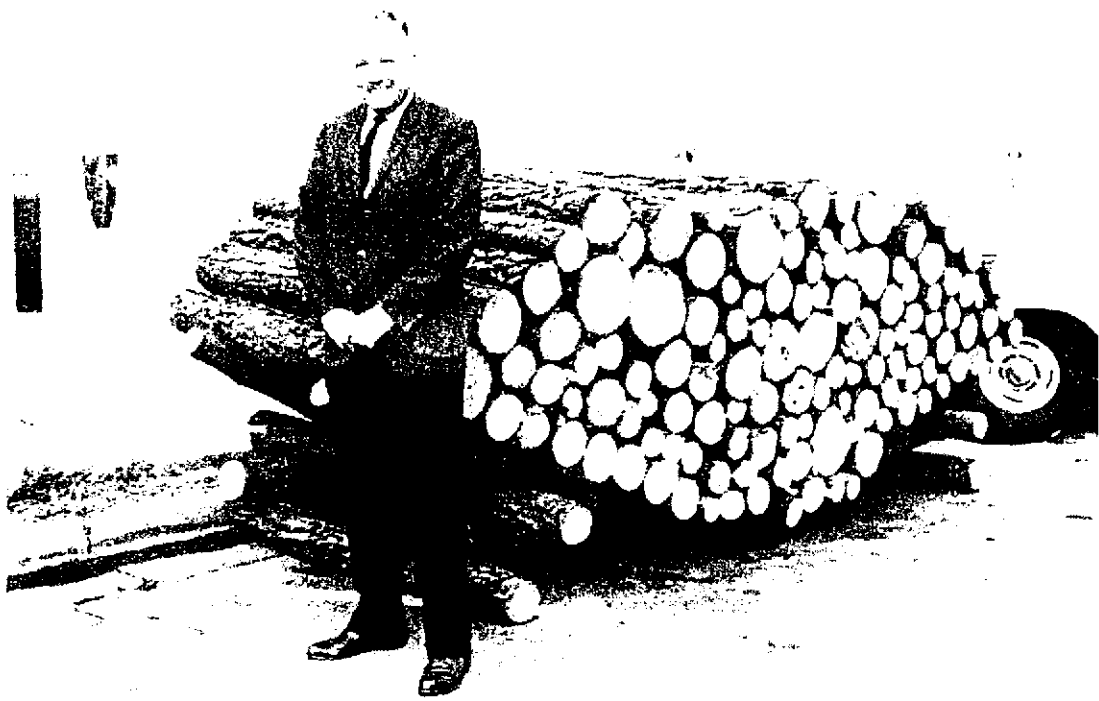

Ansley Gilbert

This plant although not a wood-working operation deals mainly with a product used by the pulpwood industry. This plant started operation in Hope in 1964 with 3 employees and since that time has more than doubled its floor space in the Hope Industrial area and its present employment is 26. In addition to pulpwood loaders they manufacture Poultry Feed Bins and steel trusses for poultry houses. Annual payroll for this plant is approximately $150,000.00. Within the past few months the company has greatly improved its loader with the addition of the power boom, which enables one man to do the job that formerly required two to three men. The product is sold through distributors in about 20 states in the south and southwest. Mr. Ansley Gilbert is the owner-manager of the plant.

Harold Hendrix, local pulpwood dealer, has placed a bundle of pulpwood at the corner of Second and Main streets and in the Hope Village Shopping Center during National Forest Products Week.

Local residents are invited to enter a guess on how many shopping bags can be manufactured from a bundle of wood the size of those on display. The person guessing the nearest to the correct number will receive a 6 foot wood ladder manufactured by Southwest Wood Products as a prize. Second prize will be a 4 foot ladder and third prize will be a 2 foot ladder.

Guy E. Basye and W. C. Bruner

The Bruner-Ivory Plant is one of Hope's oldest and most valued industries. Their beginning came in 1888 and through the years they have been the top near the top in the number of industrial employees in the area. Present employment is 200 people with an annual payroll of $650,000.00. Timber for this operation, mostly hickory and ash, comes from Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, and Oklahoma and their annual purchases of logs and blanks amount to $550,000.00. The finished product, consisting of handles of all types, is shipped throughout the United States and Canada as well as some foreign countries.

Guy E. Basye is President of the company. Mr. W. C. Bruner serves as Vice-President and Mr. T. C. Cranford is Secretary-Treasurer.

Philippines Fail to Act on Asian Ties

MANILA (AP) — Since the end of World War II, Philippine leaders have been making eloquent speeches about the nation's bonds with Asia.

The newspapers would generally approve, the economists would agree, and some intellectuals, notably from the left, would applaud warmly. Then the nation would generally ignore the whole thing and go about its business.

The late Ramon Magsaysay, the most popular man ever elected president, led the nation into the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization only after initial reluctance. Despite his wide appeal in the region, a respected historian notes, "He never seriously entertained the idea of Asian leadership." After the SEATO treaty in 1954, the Philippines returned to a cautious and gingerly approach toward Asian neighbors. Twelve years later President Ferdinand E. Marcos aspires now to the role Magsaysay defined in Asian councils.

The seven-nation summit conference on Viet Nam which convenes Monday is the latest step for Marcos.

As host to the United States, Australia, New Zealand, South Viet Nam, South Korea and Thailand—all with troops in Viet Nam—Marcos will automatically be the focus.

If he succeeds, he will give his nation a stronger position in Asia than it has ever enjoyed. He could tilt the power balance a little more against the Red Chinese in Asia.

Approaching the conference, Marcos has insisted "it will reflect some concrete accomplishments."

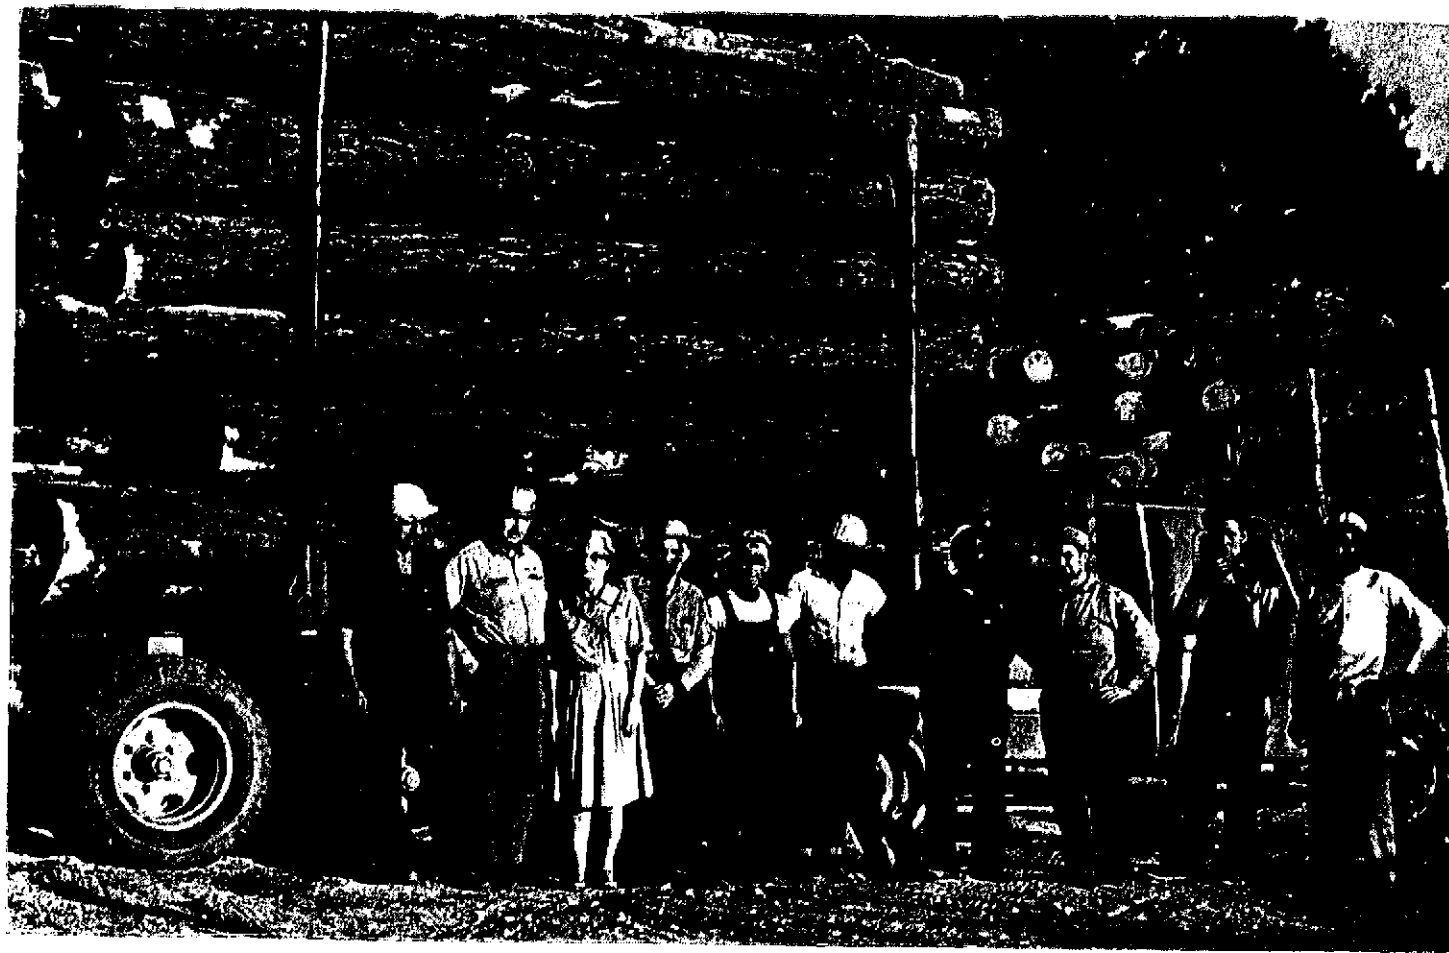

The seven nations have drifted one by one into the war in Viet Nam without much consultation. In a desire to bolster the South Vietnamese against Communist aggression, they have tended to ignore some evident disagreements about how the war should be conducted.

With the United States building a 400,000-man military force in Viet Nam, President Johnson faces some divergent Asian views.

South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and South Korea's Chung Hee Park have lit the stomach for negotiations with the Communists. They are genuine hawks.

The Thais are contributing a minimal force in Viet Nam but are opening their territory to a U.S. buildup. They eye peace negotiations with suspicion.

Evidence Tree Farming Pays Dividends

In keeping with Forestry Week Mr. and Mrs. Arlis Adams of near Little Bodcaw harvested some 100,000 feet of timber from their 397 acre farm. The timber was harvested under the direction of A. G. Martin of Hope Lumber Manufacturing Co.

The Adams' replant and selectively cut their timber. The last harvest of big logs was in 1954. However, the Bodcaw family sells pulpwood regularly. The load of prime logs pictured is further evidence that tree farming pays, not only to the owner, but is beneficial to the economy of this section.

The number of students wheeling it to school at public expense is steadily rising. Back in 1919-20, school buses served only 1.6 per cent of public school students. The rest had to beat the bell on their own. By 1963-64, the percentage riding buses had risen to 38.7—15,560,000 out of the 40,187,000 public school students enrolled throughout the nation that year.

Millwood Water Topic at Political Meet, New Paper Mill Hinted

At last night's big 7-county Democratic rally at Fair Park Coliseum water from Millwood Dam and other streams in Arkansas was a major issue discussed and a new paper mill near Fulton was hinted.

A telegram from Congressman Jim Trimble was read, revealing that that appropriation bill included $1.9 million dollars for the Southwest Arkansas Water District. The District is seeking $9.9 million in federal aid for development of the district which has control of water from the Millwood reservoir.

Native son, James H. Pilkinton, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, devoted much of his short talk to home folks, and to water issues.

He said, "According to reports the Texas Water Development Board has recently released a plan to meet that state's water needs for the next 50 years. Texas' goal is to bring water from the rivers and lakes in other states. Apparently Texas is having trouble getting water already allotted to it from other states through interstate compacts.

"Now Texas wants Arkansas to enter into an interstate pact or pacts. I am against any export of Arkansas water to Texas or any other state until Arkansas' needs for the next 50 years are fully and completely met.

"If I am elected Lieutenant Governor, I will work with the Legis-

Terrorists Strike in Viet Nam

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong terrorists exploded a homemade mine in the teeming market place of a district capital today and killed or wounded 57 Vietnamese soldiers and civilians.

The attack came on an otherwise quiet day on the war front with only small patrol skirmishes reported as President Chung Hee Park of South Korea arrived in Viet Nam for a one-day visit to Korea's 45,000-man force here.

Park stopped off for seven hours and then continued on his way to Manila to attend the seven-day summit conference on Viet Nam opening Monday.

South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, having quieted the storm within his own cabinet, took time off to fly to Da Nang to welcome the visiting Korean president.

In the air war over North Viet Nam, U.S. strike pilots flew 80 missions Thursday and an American spokesman said the forays cost two U.S. planes.

The North Vietnamese claimed five planes were shot down Thursday and a number of pilots were captured.

U.S. spokesmen ignored this claim, but said the pilots of the U.S. planes were missing. The planes were both Navy A4 Skyhawks from U.S. 7th Fleet carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Johnson Hits Press, TV in Talk Here

Jim Johnson, democratic candidate for governor of Arkansas, spoke to an estimate 2,000 persons last night in the Coliseum in Fair Park and continued his blast at press coverage given him in Arkansas and especially the Arkansas Gazette.

Johnson also lashed at television stations where he said he had been "unable to buy time". He said the Gazette doesn't endorse Jim Johnson because he opposes its policy of favoring draft card burners, school guidelines, school prayer, and general policy that degrades the State of Arkansas, just to win eastern support. He promised the Gazette would not be his Lieutenant Governor.

He told the crowd that he didn't support taking the tax dollar to give wenchies to have illegitimate children, "I want to use that money for the old people of our state". Mr. Johnson also said that "we have got to eliminate withholding taxes in businesses with less than five employees.

He devoted much of his time to questioning the qualifications of his Republican opponent, Winthrop Rockefeller. He charged Rockefeller used an appointed office to further his interests. (Chairman of the AIDC).

He favored a $500 a year raise for teachers beginning next year and free textbooks for all grades. He called Initiative Act 1, calling for school consolidation, a bonanza to bond dealers and voiced his opposition.

Mr. Johnson also promised to get rid of all state employees who are not actually needed and would insist on a complete audit of activities of the State Highway Department through proper channels.

In conclusion, Mr. Johnson appealed to the voter to help him because "I want to make Arkansas the greatest State in the Union."

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — The chairman of the Walnut Ridge Industrial Committee says V and B Manufacturing Co. will operate here a factory to make hickory handles for tools.

Jim Bland Jr. said the firm would provide jobs for about 50 persons and would be financed through a $175,000 Amendment 49 industrial bond issue. No date has been set for the bond issue election.

Cincinnati Rape-Slayer Strikes Again

By DON BANDY
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The strangulation slaying of an 81-year-old widow, presumably the fifth victim of a crazed killer, has touched off a new wave of fear in an already terrified Cincinnati.

The latest victim, Rose Winstel, was raped and strangled Thursday night in a three-room apartment in which she lived alone.

The attack took place about two miles from the scene of three of four previous rape-strangulation murders, the first of which occurred last December.

"It's an exact copy of the others," said Detective Chief Jacob Schott.

"She looked exactly like the others," another veteran detective said. "There's no doubt about it."

Police said the aspects of the five slayings were the same. Each victim was beaten severely on the head and face with a blunt object, raped and strangled with whatever was at hand.

The slayings have touched off fear among Cincinnati women. The fear has been fed with the unsolved stabbing murders of a young suburban couple and their daughter Sept. 25.

Police, who have been on unlimited overtime duty since Oct. 11 when Alice Hochhauser, 51, was raped and strangled, are attempting to add more help to an already beefed-up force to find the killer.

Mrs. Winstel was strangled with a cord from a heating pad. She was nude from the waist down and had been dead from 15 to 24 hours, investigators said.

A 23-year-old man was taken into custody shortly after discovery of the slaying, but police said they had no evidence to link him with the crime. He was being held overnight.

The body was discovered by a nephew, Robert C. Winstel, who said he went to the home when he couldn't reach his aunt by telephone.

A chain lock on the apartment's kitchen door had been broken. All the other doors and windows were locked.

Police said this was the first time the killer had used force to gain entry. The other victims were caught in surprise attacks either in their apartment building or outside.

Nothing appeared to be stolen, police said.

300 Strike at Ft. Smith

Herb Bingham, a union representative, said employees struck for better working conditions and a higher wage scale.

Million Greet the President at Melbourne

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — President Johnson returned to this federal capital today from Melbourne, where more than a million persons turned out to give him one of the biggest welcomes ever staged in Australia.

By FRANK CORMIER
MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australia's second largest city today gave President Johnson one of the most tumultuously enthusiastic receptions of his career. It also included a thorough smearing of red and green paint across his bubbletop limousine and boos and jeers from a two-block gantlet of youths opposing the war in Viet Nam.

The closed car protected the President and Mrs. Johnson from the paint, and they stepped from the car at Government House smiling and waving as if nothing had happened.

"In the perspective of two million people or so," said the First Lady, "it was just like a grain of sand."

One report said the paint — in two plastic balloons — was thrown by two youngsters about 14 years old. Another said the thrower was a young man whom police arrested.

The President flew to Melbourne from Canberra for four hours of meeting the people after taking a good-natured ribbing from an Australian politician and issuing a Viet Nam solidarity statement with Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Johnson and Holt said they agreed that North Viet Nam no longer can win a military victory but that America and its allies must "firmly maintain the present military effort until a satisfactory settlement could be negotiated."

"Fighting could only end when it was clear that the great issues at stake had been secured," the statement declared.

"There is a widening community of people who feel responsible for what is happening in Viet Nam," the President said in a television speech just before he left Canberra. For that reason, he continued, "I believe there is light at the end of what has been a long and lonely tunnel."

Despite Mrs. Johnson's "two million" remark, Melbourne police estimated the turnout for the President at half a million who jammed the sidewalks for many blocks, cheering and waving American flags under a rain of tickertape from the city's tall buildings.

The President as usual stopped his car repeatedly during the 11-mile drive to Government House and stood in the open doorway, kissing babies, waving vigorously, shaking hundreds of hands and accepting flowers and other tokens — including a football — from wellwishers.

Wales School Covered by Coal Slag

ABERFAN, Wales (AP) — A giant coal slag-heap swept down a mountain into this Welsh mining village today, burying a school filled with children and also a row of houses.

The bodies of 16 persons — 14 children and two adults — were recovered.

Police estimated 100 school children and about 30 adults were missing. But some were believed to have escaped in the confusion.

The slag heap, loosened by recent rains, also slid into a row of six houses in this South Wales mining village. There were fears some persons might be buried in the houses.

A fire brigade spokesman said 200 children were believed in the school at the time.

A National Coal Board spokesman said he understood some had been brought out safely.

The slag heap — called a coal tip in Britain — is a small mountain of pit waste standing alongside the pit superstructure. It has long been a trademark of British coal fields, but the National Coal Board has been waging a campaign to level them,
